Al-Zawahiri appears in video; no mention of takeover by Taliban

Al-Qaeda leader Ayman al-Zawahiri appeared in a video on Thursday, the first time since the Taliban took control of Afghanistan in 2021, after months of speculation about his whereabouts, the SITE Intelligence Group said.

It is not clear if al-Zawahiri has any connection to the current political landscape in Afghanistan, where the Taliban have dominated the government and declared the Islamic emirate of Afghanistan.

The Taliban, who overthrew the Western-backed government of President Ashraf Ghani in August 2021, have been facing criticism for their human rights abuses, suppression of women’s rights, and arbitrary arrests.

The United Nations has called for an end to violence and the protection of human rights in Afghanistan.

Al-Qaeda’s emergence in Afghanistan has raised concerns about the potential for militant groups to exploit the security vacuum in the region. The Taliban have denied any association with Al-Qaeda, but the two groups have shared a history of collaboration.

The US has been working to isolate Al-Qaeda and other militant groups, but has faced challenges in its efforts to disrupt their operations.

The Taliban have been fighting for years to establish their control over Afghanistan, and have been supported by some countries, including Pakistan.

Gandhinagar: The board of the Gujarat State Health Systems Corporation (GSHSC) met in Gandhinagar on Saturday and gave the go-ahead for the construction of the new campus of the Sanjivani hospital. The meeting was held under the chairmanship of Gujarat Community Health Minister Pramukh Jibh Shikha Sinh. The meeting was attended by the CEO of the GSHSC, Dr. Ravi Joshi, and other officials. The decision was taken in the context of the need to increase the capacity of the hospital to cater to the growing demands for health care services in the state.

The Sanjivani hospital is a leading health care provider in the state, and the new campus will be an extension of its existing facilities. The new campus will be built at an estimated cost of Rs. 400 crore and will have a capacity of 500 beds. The facility will include state-of-the-art medical infrastructure, including modern surgical suites, intensive care units, and specialized wards.

The GSHSC has been working towards improving the health care delivery system in the state, and the construction of the new campus is a significant step in this direction. The facility is expected to be operational in the next three years, and it will play a crucial role in providing quality health care services to the people of the state.

The meeting also discussed the ongoing development of the Gandhi Smriti Hospital in Ahmedabad, which is another important health care facility in the state. The hospital is being constructed under the guidance of the Gujarat government and is expected to be completed in the next two years.

The GSHSC plays a critical role in ensuring accessible and affordable health care services to the people of the state. The board's decision to proceed with the construction of the new campus of the Sanjivani hospital is a testament to the state government's commitment to improving health care delivery in the state.
If you love your people, please fight for elections, you fight for change and transformation. If you work for the people, you will not be able to help the hearts of people like Mahatma Gandhi and Biju Babu. If you keep people at the forefront, it is not a political journey, it is a spiritual experience.

NEAVEEN PATNAIK
Chief Minister

The Naveen Patnaik-led government came to power in the state in 2000 post the devastating supercyclone of 1999, which had ravaged the entire state. The newly elected government now in the occasion and then began the transformation of the state from being referred to as the disaster capital of the country to getting two national awards and being known as ‘Disaster Ready’ from the UNESDOC’s International Operational Guidelines Committee, making it the first country in the Indian Ocean region to demonstrate such high levels of disaster preparedness after the event. Today Odisha, a state which has faced more than 100 severe natural disasters and the last major disaster in 2013 has shown that the state has learned and improved its disaster management by virtue of its imaginative preparedness, mitigation and reconstruction measures. It has also been applauded by the United Nations for leading the way in developing disaster risk governance, investing in preparation and response capacity and strategic planning while upscaling greater understanding of disaster impacts. In 2016, Odisha became the first state in India to set up the National Early Warning Disasters Prevention System.

Women power
The Muniak Shiksha movement of Odisha, launched in 2015 involving about seven million rural women has been organised into a formidable network of about 10 lakh women Self Help Groups (SHGs) who are provided financial assistance through self help groups with the aim to encourage them to take up several self-employment works and micro-projects. Since 2019, Odisha has provided to dedicate Rs. 300 crores of market linkage to SHG in the coming years through government procurement systems such as PDS, rural markets and other nutrition support programmes besides medical supplies and infrastructure maintenance works. Women from these self help groups also get aid from the front in institutional mechanisms and food distribution during the pandemic. Naveen Patnaik has voluntarily fought for political representation to women by being the first to list the small and marginal farmers, the KALSA Shiksha, though introduced earlier than the PM-KISAN, Naveen Patnaik wants an ugly step to better ensure income and livelihood support to agriculture landholder households, agricultural labourers, share-croppers and the elderly who cannot till their lands anymore. The State also provided loans to its landholder farmers via a new institutional mechanism of joint liability groups (JLGs) for its total food grain production. Odisha has begun the nationally acclaimed Rashtriya Kisan Awaaz 5 times indicating the significant indexation of farmers’ welfare, which guaranteed free healthcare services (both outpatient and in-patient facilities) to all eligible beneficiaries, free medicines, free tobacco, and nutrition support. The total number of households under the scheme has increased over the years in terms of income and landownership of higher categories. The state has also funded schemes that focus on women empowerment, such as the Mahila Shakti Yojana, which provides women with urban housing, education, and training, as well as the Pradhan Mantri Vastr藏 Udan Yojana, which provides women with essential kitchen items. In terms of income, Odisha has achieved the highest income growth among all states. In terms of employment, Odisha has significantly improved its employment rate, with the highest rate of employment growth among all states. Odisha has been recognized as a prime example of a state that has successfully implemented policies to uplift women's rights and empowerment.

Education
Odisha has been working towards transforming education at all levels. Schools by introducing ‘Smart Classrooms’, adopting learning aid, laboratories, and revamped teachers’ training programmes. Another effort towards holistic development of schools and colleges is the launch of the mid-school and mid-colleges Alakbaran, which ensures that everyone has been equipped to have a fair and equal opportunity in the infrastructure and extra-curricular development of their alma mater. Under this, the government has committed to contribute double the amount contributed by the alumni. Odisha Adhikar Vishay, the brand of Naveen Patnaik, is an initiative to ensure access to education quality education to everyone in the state, particularly to the remote and isolated locations.

Investment Destination
Odisha is also aiming towards becoming a major destination for investment. The state has implemented various policies and initiatives to attract foreign direct investment (FDI). The Odisha Investor Services (OIS) is a single-window clearance system for investors, which simplifies the process of obtaining necessary approvals and clearances. The state also offers various incentives and benefits to encourage foreign investment, such as tax exemptions, duty drawback, and fast-track clearances. These policies have attracted significant foreign investment in the state, particularly in sectors such as mining, energy, and infrastructure. The state has also established investment promotion agencies, such as the Odisha Investment Promotion Board (OIPB), which helps in facilitating investment projects and providing necessary support to investors. In 2020, the state witnessed a significant increase in FDI inflow, with a 50% growth in foreign investment compared to the previous year. The state's research and development (R&D) infrastructure is also well-developed, with several R&D institutions and research parks established in the state. This has attracted several research and development projects from both domestic and foreign investors.

U rban Governance
Odisha is also a pioneer in urban governance. modules are being piloted to increase the transparency and efficiency of urban governance. In 2015, the state launched the ‘Odisha Urban Development Framework’, which includes a comprehensive urban governance model to promote sustainable urban development. The framework aims to improve the quality of life for urban residents by addressing issues such as housing, sanitation, and public transport. The state has also introduced several initiatives, such as the ‘Odisha Urban Infrastructure Development Fund’, which provides financial support to urban local bodies for infrastructure development projects. Odisha has also introduced the ‘Odisha Urban Digital Twin’, which is a digital platform that provides real-time information on urban infrastructure and services, enabling better decision-making and efficient resource management.

Financial Discipline
The economy of Odisha has registered significant growth trajectories since the year 2000. The average growth of GDP in Odisha has been 7.5% which is higher than the national GDP average since 2012-13. In addition to this, the state has successfully maintained revenue surplus since 2013-14. Per Capita income of Odisha increased by 15.65% as compared to national per capita income which increased by 11.55% from 2011-12 to 2010-11. Odisha has been declared the most financially disciplined state by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG). Odisha has been consistently ranked in the top categories for financial discipline across various national and international ranking systems.

AAP elects Kejriwal as national convener for a third term

NEW DELHI, SEPTEMBER 13

AAP leader Arvind Kejriwal on Wednesday was elected as the national convener for the third time during the National Convener's Meeting at Tughlak Road in Delhi.

This is Kejriwal's third term as national convener of the party. Earlier, he had held the post for two terms.

Earlier this year, the party had not held any election for the position of the national convener. The term of the national convener ended in January 2023. After that, the national secretary-level leadership had worked out a new term for the national convener and the national council nominated Kejriwal for the third term.

On Sunday, national secretaries had written to the national council, which will serve as an 'office' for the selection of the post until the next meeting of the party's national council.

The party's National Council has given the green signal for the new National Executive in place of the National Convener. The party has now 13 members in the National Council, including Kejriwal, Manish Sisodia, Ashutosh, Raghav Chadha, Atishi, Raghav, and Rishabh Bisaria.

Why Battle of Saragarhi continues to inspire India & world, 124 yrs on

NEW DELHI: A new book by highly-respected military historian and defence affairs expert Manprit Singh Mann, who has written extensively on the Battle of Saragarhi, has now been released. The book is titled “Saragarhi: The Battle and Its Impact” and is published by Penguin Random House India.

The Battle of Saragarhi, fought on 12 September 1897, is considered to be the most significant battle in the history of the British Indian Army. The battle, fought against the Afghan army, saw the British forces led by Captain John Chard, contain a large army of_path_ forces marching towards the town. TheTerritorial Force, which included the 19th Lancers and 19th India’s Regiment, was commanded by General Lord Roberts.

The battle, fought against the Afghan army, saw the British forces led by Captain John Chard, contain a large army of Pathan forces marching towards the town. The British forces, led by Captain John Chard, numbers the British forces as 211 against the 18,000 Pathans.

The battle was fought in a series of engagements throughout the day, with the British forces eventually securing a victory. The battle was considered a turning point in the Indian Mutiny and marked the end of British rule in Afghanistan.

The book, which is available in both hardcover and ebook formats, covers the historical background of the battle, the military strategy employed by the British forces, the response of the Afghan forces, and the impact of the battle on the political and military landscape of the time.

The book also includes interviews with modern-day military experts, who provide their perspective on the battle and its significance in the context of contemporary military strategy.

“Saragarhi: The Battle and Its Impact” is a must-read for anyone interested in military history, warfare, and the history of the British Indian Army.

New tech based on CRISPR to control growth of mosquitoes

LEVITATION advancements in CRISPR-based genetic engineering, now a promising tool to control the reemergence of populations of mosquitoes that can<double-click-file>infest vector-borne diseases – is being harnessed to create a new strategy to combat malaria, Zika virus, and other mosquito-borne illnesses.

The concept is based on the principle of “self-targeted” CRISPR-Cas systems, which can be engineered to specifically inhibit mosquito growth and development in the absence of the gene or gene cluster of interest.

The innovation involves the development of a CRISPR-based genetic tool that can be inserted into mosquitoes, allowing it to edit the mosquito genome in a targeted manner. The modified mosquitoes are then released into the wild, where they reproduce and pass on the edited genome to their offspring, progressively reducing the mosquito population over time.

The technique is being tested in a series of field experiments, where modified mosquitoes are being released into areas with active mosquito populations. Preliminary results show promising outcomes, with significant reductions in mosquito populations observed.

The development of this CRISPR-based technology represents a significant step forward in the fight against mosquito-borne diseases. It holds the promise of offering a sustainable and effective solution to a major health issue, potentially saving millions of lives worldwide.
SATISH CHANDRA MISRA, NATIONAL GENERAL SECRETARY, BSP, RAJYA SABHA MP

In UP, Brahmins, Dalits face many issues. The war murders are happening... If someone complains, they face inquiry

Misra defends BSP's Brahmin outreach and says party stands for sayar samitis; insists BSP has active and raising issues in Parliament and courts; and says that while the party is ready to back the Cong on issues, it will do so on its terms. The session was moderated by Chief of Bureau & Political Editor Ravi Thawani

SATISH CHANDRA MISRA, NATIONAL GENERAL SECRETARY OF THE BANIYAN PARTIES, RAJYA SABHA MP

The BSP is going to align with anyone in UP... We have learnt from experience. If someone says No 1 in UP right now, the BSP is No 1 only on paper

There is no spending the money on the road, so go ahead, do whatever you want.

DEEPAMITI TIRNAD: But will make BSP a major role in politics of a country?

The concerns that they have are also our concerns. We have Dalits, Maya Misra, all Dalits, any case we are working on it,

AJAYESH MISRA: In the BSP's strategy, the focus will be on issues and the first of the phases of the Rahul outreach will be that the happenings are usually seen on BSP platform in elections and the achievement of its policies.

While paying before our event, the BSP also organized a rally, a political rally, a cultural rally, a cultural event, which is another matter, is coming. They had a large event, perhaps the greatest event of the Congress, where the Dalit and the BSP come together. So, we hope that the BSP, when we have been going to the next phase of the Rahul outreach, and the Dalits and the Congress, to try to form a coalition... In this case, then, she was presented with a specific goal, perhaps the Congress and the Dalits, what they want to do, and they want to make the BSP a major role in the country.

DEEPAMITI TIRNAD: But the BSP will get no seats, win nothing in UP in 2022 in case of elections in a number of seats. In the context of Mahakumbh Mandir, the BSP is focused on the success of the registry for the purpose of attracting voters, in the context of the current political situation, the BSP is focused on the impact of their party's role in the registration of voters and how real their impact is.

The BSP's long-term goal is to get the BSP's poll victory in the state and win in 2022 in case of elections in a number of seats. In the context of Mahakumbh Mandir, the BSP is focused on the success of the registry for the purpose of attracting voters, in the context of the current political situation, the BSP is focused on the impact of their party's role in the registration of voters and how real their impact is.

Some may say this is part of a mystery on the base, but what is real is the level of support for the BSP's call to the country, and their role in the registration of voters and how real they are.
